Grant us the courage to find our voice, sing our unwavering truths, and live authentically in every vibrant hue. Let our faith be a shield, protecting the knowledge that we are loved exactly as we are, in all our glorious selves.

May this day, and every day, be a vibrant testament to love, acceptance, and the radical joy of being exactly who we were created to be. Remind us that we are forever loved by you, that we are worthy, and that we are a dazzling reflection of your infinite love! For we pray in Jesus' name. Amen.

WORD

God speaks to us in scripture reading, preaching, and song.

First Reading – Esther 4

As queen, Esther was able to use her influence with the king to protect the Jewish people from the genocidal plot of Haman, one of the king's advisors. Encouraged by her cousin Mordecai's words that "Perhaps you have come to royal dignity for just such a time as this," Esther revealed her Jewish identity to the king and convinced him to allow the Jews to defend themselves against their enemies. This is the origin of the Jewish festival of Purim.

When Mordecai learned all that had been done, Mordecai tore his clothes and put on sackcloth and ashes, and went through the city, wailing with a loud and bitter cry; ² he went up to the entrance of the king's gate, for no one might enter the king's gate clothed with sackcloth. ³ In every province, wherever the king's command and his decree came, there was great mourning among the Jews, with fasting and weeping and lamenting, and most of them lay in sackcloth and ashes.

⁴ When Esther's maids and her eunuchs came and told her, the queen was deeply distressed; she sent garments to clothe Mordecai, so that he might take off his sackcloth; but he would not accept them. ⁵ Then Esther called for Hathach, one of the king's eunuchs, who had been appointed to attend her, and ordered him to go to Mordecai to learn what was happening and why. ⁶ Hathach went out to Mordecai in the open square of the city in front of the king's gate, ⁷ and Mordecai told him all that had happened to him, and the exact sum of money that Haman had promised to pay into the king's treasuries for the destruction of the Jews. ⁸ Mordecai also gave him a copy of the written decree issued in Susa for their destruction, that he might show it to Esther, explain it to her, and charge her to go to the king to make supplication to him and entreat him for her people.

⁹ Hathach went and told Esther what Mordecai had said. ¹⁰ Then Esther spoke to Hathach and gave him a message for Mordecai, saying, ¹¹ 'All the king's servants and the people of the king's provinces know that if any man or woman goes to the king inside the inner court without being called, there is but one law—all alike are to be put to death. Only if the king holds out the golden sceptre to someone, may that person live. I myself have not been called to come in to the king for thirty days.' ¹² When they told Mordecai what Esther had said, ¹³ Mordecai told them to reply to Esther, 'Do not think that in the king's palace you will escape any more than all the other Jews. ¹⁴ For if you keep silence at such a time as this, relief and deliverance will rise for the Jews from another quarter, but you and your father's family will perish. Who knows? Perhaps you have come to royal dignity for just such a time as this.' ¹⁵ Then Esther said in reply to Mordecai, ¹⁶ 'Go, gather all the Jews to be found in Susa, and hold a fast on my behalf, and neither eat nor drink for three days, night or day. I and my maids will also fast as you do. After that I will go to the king, though it is against the law; and if I perish, I perish.' ¹⁷ Mordecai then went away and did everything as Esther had ordered him.

Word of God. Word of life.

Thanks be to God.

Gospel Acclamation (sung twice)

Gospel Reading – Mark 3:20-27, 31-35

The holy gospel according to Mark.
Glory to you, O Lord.

[Jesus went home;] ²⁰ and the crowd came together again, so that [Jesus and the disciples] could not even eat. ²¹ When his family heard it, they went out to restrain him, for people were saying, “He has gone out of his mind.” ²² And the scribes who came down from Jerusalem said, “He has Beelzebul, and by the ruler of the demons he casts out demons.” ²³ And he called them to him, and spoke to them in parables, “How can Satan cast out Satan? ²⁴ If a kingdom is divided against itself, that kingdom cannot stand. ²⁵ And if a house is divided against itself, that house will not be able to stand. ²⁶ And if Satan has risen up against himself and is divided, he cannot stand, but his end has come. ²⁷ But no one can enter a strong man’s house and plunder his property without first tying up the strong man; then indeed the house can be plundered...

³¹ Then his mother and his brothers came; and standing outside, they sent to him and called him. ³² A crowd was sitting around him; and they said to him, “Your mother and your brothers and sisters are outside, asking for you.”

³³ And he replied, “Who are my mother and my brothers?” ³⁴ And looking at those who sat around him, he said, “Here are my mother and my brothers! ³⁵ Whoever does the will of God is my brother and sister and mother.”

The gospel of Christ.

Praise to you, Lord Jesus Christ.

Prayers

We remember the echoes of prayer in this time of PRIDE; we celebrate the beautiful diversity of your creation, O God. We lift our voices for people of all sexual orientations, gender identities, gender expressions, Black, Indigenous, and People of Colour, people of expansive abilities, and all those who still face discrimination, fear, and violence for who they are. Grant the courage to find their voices and live authentically. Empower us, your church, to be a beacon of inclusion and justice making. God of all, help us sing of your love.

We lift our voices in thanks for our pastors, priests, deacons, bishops, and all those who strive to build a loving and welcoming community that reflects Jesus' love. May they continue to be bold champions of radical hospitality, inclusion, and justice for all of God's diverse creation. God of all, help us sing of your love.

We raise our voices in grateful celebration for all reconciling and affirming organizations and communities of faith. May their work with members, communities, and the wider Church continue to be a powerful catalyst for justice. God of all, help us sing of your love.

We lift our voices in prayer for all who are sick in mind, body, or spirit; for those who live with the fear of violence every day; for those who suffer in want of life's basic necessities of food, shelter, and supportive relationships. May we be agents of your love and compassion. We pray especially for those who desire our prayers: Anna-Liisa, Bud, Ruth, Susan, Chris, Werner and Debbie, Karen, Jim, Bill, Isa, Zoilita, Lisa, Barrie and Stella, Irene and Kelly, John and Julianna, Florence, Nicky and Dwayne, Sadie, Beth, and those we name in our hearts (brief silence...). God of all, help us sing of your love.

In faith and hope, we lift these and all our prayers to you, God, confident in your enduring love and grace. Amen.

May the peace of Christ be with you all!

It is right to give our thanks and praise.

Preface

And so we sing with all the beings of boundless love, a chorus of voices that defy definition, crying out for justice to cascade like a cleansing rain. May it nourish the parched earth of inequality, washing away the walls that divide us. For the Divine, an essence woven from infinite possibilities, embraces all creation, yearning for unity. We become vessels of that yearning, building a world where love, fierce and tender, soaks every corner:

Sanctus

Ho - ly, ho - ly, ho - ly Lord, God of pow-er and might, heav'n and earth are full of your glo-ry. Ho-san - na in the high - est.
Bless - ed is he who comes in the name of the Lord. Ho - san - na in the high - est, ho - san - na in the high - est.

Eucharistic Prayer

Holy, just, and merciful God,
Great Love, beyond definition, overflowing with justice and compassion.

New creation, birthed from chaos, blossomed in Jesus.

He preached liberation-
not just for the poor but for those ostracized, cast out, living on the margins.

He proclaimed freedom for those trapped by societal norms,
those blinded by rigid expectations.

He shattered the chains of oppression,
not just physical, but the ones that bind hearts and souls.

He healed the ostracized,
fed the hungry regardless of their labels,
and shared meals with those deemed "unclean."

In these radical acts of love and justice,
we see the blueprint for our church.
We are called to be a torrent of justice,
overflowing boundaries,
challenging heteronormativity
and embracing the full spectrum of human experience.

We are the liberated,
not just from physical death,
but from the death of spirit that comes from exclusion.
We are bound by a covenant of radical love
and the ever-present Spirit, birthing a new creation where all are welcome at the table.

Just as he said that last night with his disciples,
Jesus says to us, "Come, gather around my friends."
This common bread at our table is much more than it seems.
This is the brokenness of the world.
I am broken for you, and we are broken for each other.

This common cup is much more than it seems.
The blood of innocent ones is too often shed at the hands of oppressors.
Whenever there is suffering, I suffer with you.
I am poured out for you, and we are poured out for each other.

We proclaim this truth:
Death is part of life.

Christ has died.

But death will not have the last word.

Christ has risen!

And suffering will end.

Christ will come again...

...and again and again, every time suffering is alleviated, comfort is given,
food is offered,
hope is restored.

Pour out your Holy Spirit on this body gathered here,
on our union with each other, and with these gifts of bread and wine.
May we become your body for the sake of a world where each has a voice. Amen

Jesus' Prayer

(A Paraphrase by Bill Wallace, Aoteraroa/New Zealand)

O most Compassionate Life-giver,
may we honour and praise you;
May we work with you to establish your new order
of justice peace and love;
Give us what we need for growth,
And help us, through forgiving others, to accept forgiveness.
Strengthen us in the time of testing, that we may resist all evil,
For all tenderness, strength and love are yours,
now and forever.
Amen.

Invitation to Communion

Jesus said, "I am the bread of life. Whoever comes to me shall never be hungry. Whoever believes in me will never thirst."

Taste and see that the Lord is good;
Happy are they who trust in him!

Christ has set the table with more than enough for all.
Come!

Thanks be to God!

The Seven Sacred Teachings — Honesty

Honesty is represented by either the raven or the sabe. They both understand who they are and how to walk in their life. “Sabe reminds us to be ourselves and not someone we are not. An honest person is said to walk tall like Kitchi-Sabe... Like Kitchi-Sabe, Raven accepts himself and knows how to use his gift. He does not seek the power, speed or beauty of others. He uses what he has been given to survive and thrive. So must you.”

The Seven Sacred Teachings of White Buffalo Calf Woman, by David Bouchard & Dr. Joseph Martin.

To walk through life with integrity is to know honesty.

Be honest with yourself.

Recognize and accept who you are.

Accept and use the gifts you have been given.

Do not seek to deceive yourself or others.
